(Roger McGuinn)
In times of despair
I think about the good things that you've done
And though you're not there
I sometimes ask myself, is anyone?
It's hard being human
When the whole world's a trap
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out all right
I might lose my patience
But won't you please try to understand
I've got obligations
And I intend to face them and take my stand
Oh, it's so hard being human
With only troubles in sight
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out all right Yes I do, yeah!
Stick by the baby

In spite of my qualms
That's all I want you to do
And try to help me (Help me)
When I'm down (Help me)
And I'll take good care of you
I want to thank you
For all the tender loving that you give
It brightens my feelings
And gives me strength and need to live
Oh, it's so hard being human
With all those troubles in sight
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out all right
Somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out all right
Somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out all right
