"Without You"

Yesterday was sunshine
now the ground is wet by rain
You just didn't tell me you were leaving
I still pick up the phone to see if you are home
And it hits me that I'm standing here alone

Every moment keeps reminding me of you
With you I could conquer it all
I was hopeful now I've lost control
Can the world go along when you are gone
How AM I supposed to live without you

You had all the answer and you've showed me different roads
Now I must go out there on my own Waiting for the rain to wash away my pain and the loneliness that fills my heart and mind

Every moment keeps reminding me of you
With you I could conquer it all
I was hopeful now I've lost control
Can the world go along when you are gone
How am I supposed to live now

Every moment keeps reminding me of you
With you I could conquer it all
I was hopeful now I've lost control
Can the world go along when you are gone
How am I supposed to live without you
I will have to live my life without you
