There's a one way ticket out of here, with my name written on it, my name written on it and you'll be lucky to catch a glimpse of me leaving, I can't figure you out these signs are so deceiving, I'm hearing these words but I don't know the meaning

Head starts just won't help falling behind, before we were starting

There's no time for brake lights or broken hearts, Were running just as fast as we can were running just as fast as we can, There's no time for Brake lights or broken hearts, I'm falling into hysterics over again

I find myself spilling my thoughts to anyone willing to listen, about times that I'm missing, and I'm searching for answers something to tempt me, I'm looking so hard but I'm coming up empty I am wasting time in this cold month in December and I am sorry, sorry for falling just short of forever, holding on to what were used too, missing out on what we could do, its time to say, its time to say goodbye to you Sorry for everything I put you through Sorry for everything I made you do Sorry but I just can't be with you
Sorry for everything I put you through

Did you notice what I did for you?
Did you notice when I came for you?
Did you notice what I did for you?

I'm still waiting
