When I look around, nothing is found
And everyday I would pray and wonder when you'd come around
I've realized so much about love these days
Cus you're still not here it's finally clear
That love will find a way

I know you'll be there as soon as I turn away yeah Cus you always know the right time to brighten my day yeah
When you smile in my direction baby now I'll pay attention
I know you'll come when the time is right
Until then I will say, love will find a way
Love will find a way, love will find a way

I really don't want to wait around
To wait for a love too true to be found
Some days it seems as if my time, will never come
And then I remember, that if I stop searching, I'll find that one

Love will find a way
Love will find a way
Love will find a way
Love will find a way
A way
