When you're broken, when you're weak
When you turn the other cheek
When you cannot speak of the bitter sweet, the bitter sweetness

When the floor gives out beneath
And everything that you believe cannot bring you peace
You're broken inside, broken in pieces

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who knows you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who loves you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go

When the waters starts to rise and you've lost the will to fight
When you're losing light
Just close your eyes, close your eyes now

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who knows you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who loves you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go

Have no fear I'll be here

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who knows you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go

You can rest in the arms of the One who holds you
Rest in the arms of the One who loves you
Rest in the arms of the One who won't let go
