It ain't no use here, it's just one more little lie try to spare some feelings, save em up for when we die it's a shame what they did, but they did it anyway they fell to the forces, that weren't born yesterday

I was Blind - now I see, changing faces, changing me.

is it nice on the water can you get there from here it's not that far to nowhere or so it would appear do they call it the jugular does it all balance out when it come in a whisper does it all seem to shout

I was blind - now I see, changing faces, changing me
I wonder bout this broke down situation I wonder bout the color of you hair I wonder bout the things you said I wonder bout it every day on and on and on an on

it ain't no use here, it's just one more little lie
try to spare some feelings, save em up for when we die
fell to the forces, that weren't born yesterday

I was blind - now I see, changing faces, changing me
I was gone growing near - I was home now I'm here
