Good night everybody
I won't bother you tonight
Street light shining in the dark
Are rushing at my sight

You're sleeping and you're dreaming something
While your mind sleepwalks
You hide your fears and feel your dreams
Until the morning comes

Everybody's sleeping tight
Behind their curtain walls
Trying not to get sensations
From this obscure world

I'm moving slowly in the street
My shadow follows me
Street's broadening in front of me
It's you, I just can see

Sleepwalking through the night
I'm living my adventure in the dark
How many times I thought I seen
Your shadow running in the park

Sleepwalking 'till the morning light
Reveals my real identity
The rising sun is always here on time
To kill this fantasy

Toys from a shop window
Seems to look straight into my eyes
Rain starts dancing around me now
Like a million moving lights

I'm looking for some loving
I won't find it very fast
How many nights, how many times
This all is gonna last?

Sleepwalking through the night
I'm spending time just playing with my mind

Sleepwalking when I'm always looking
For some quietness I can't find

Sleepwalking 'till the morning light
Reveals my real identity
The rising sun is always here on time
To kill this fantasy
