And even if I'm feeling scared
I will need confession to know
To know where I'm heading towards
To know who I'm heading towards

And all the things I couldn't do
You shouldn't think about
And that is why I had to change
Didn't do me good

And that you never will reveal
The things you showed to me
And even if I'm feeling scared
I needed to confess

My day is here again
There is a thing I need to know
Is there a part of you that wants to come?
My day is here again
There is a thing I need to know
Is there a part of you that wants to come?

It must have been something I saw
That made me to begin
To change direction just in time
The problem we decide

It must have been something in you
That I just felt I saw
That must have been something I felt
And needed to confess

My day is here again
There is a thing I need to know
Is there a part of you that wants to come?
My day is here again
There is a thing I need to know
Is there a part of you that wants to come?

And even if I'm feeling scared
I will need confession to know
To know where I'm heading towards

To know who I'm heading towards

My day is here again

There is a thing I need to know

Is there a part of you that wants to come?

My day is here again

There is a thing I need to know

Is there a part of you that wants to come?
