"To You"

The moment won't ever come, I ought to know that by now
How can i say this to you without any words?
I constantly repeat what my sense is about
I need to pass this forward to you
To you

Cause your appearance makes me wanna stay right here
Makes me wanna stay right here
And not that its about
I can't explain it too straight
You are the one i had in my mind since then
I need to pass this forward to you

I don't dare to know what you have in mind
You just don't seem to come out
I do really have to say this to you
You just don't seem to come out

And even if you notice everything i do
And even if you want to do what i want to
It seems to me that you are tied up with something
I need to pass this forward to you
To you
To you

How can i say this to you without any words?
I constantly repeat what my sense is about
I need to pass this forward to you

I don't dare to know what you have in mind
You just don't seem to come out
I do really have to say this to you
You just don't seem to come out

I don't dare to know what you have in mind
You just don't seem to come out
I do really have to say this to you
You just don't seem to come out
