Gleaming water
Everything is rejoicing
Skilful craftsmen
Adorning all things around
And you – when are you joining us?

Strike your harp
Whirl in a dance
Golden stars
Ferns are laughing
The summer is sweet
Berries reflect in the lake
O! darkness radiates light
When will you say goodbye?
O night,
O one more night

Look
The stars are shining
And the forest folk have changed
And sounds have become light

Greetings, greetings
You queen of the dawn,
Descending from the world of constellations.

What is your name,
You, the one from the stars
You will not notice me
You will forget me soon
