Leave the flashy things
You couldn't shine if you tried
I'd die to get away, if you hadn't killed me already Already..

And we've all lost control
The room keep shaking, the room keeps shaking
No, you don't take the time to think about the rhyme and reason
You're so blind

Your reputation precedes your every move
You say you're golden?
You can't prove to me that you're not the dirt beneath my feet
So just let me be, disease
You can't hurt what you can't reach

And we've all lost control
The room keep shaking, the room keeps shaking
No, you don't
take the time to think about the rhyme and reason
You're so blind

And you say that you're living
Living it, in your own way
And we've all lost control
The room keep shaking, the room keeps shaking
No, you don't
take the time to think about the rhyme and reason
You're so blind
