No more light
so get used to the dark spend some time with the hurt thats in your heart been sitting here many times before you dont need the key when you've broken down the door is it love and happiness or another hopeless little accident?

love can be too hard on your brain let it close your eyes for you and you'll never see the same
put a scar on your heart and its hard to change
scar on your heart

you stay clear for a number of years you dont face the facts and you never face your fears if you fill your head up with history how can you appreciate this mystery?

hard to change
its hard to change
