I try, try
I look for bad on the inside
But heaven knows you're heaven sent
Your skin stretches perfectly over perfect placed bones
That shame the greatest architects

This time there's nothing I can do
My heart has swelled to twice its size
I've got everything to lose

Walk, walk with me
Through a mind where everything is
To be good to be true, all chances spent
I don't believe in much now
I bring things up just to shoot them down
I guess just for the night I'll bend

This time there's nothing I can do
My heart has swelled to twice its size
I've got everything to lose
And I'm just good for a one night stand
On night two I'll find something new
I can't control this monster I am

This time there's nothing I can do
My heart has swelled to twice its size
I've got everything to lose
And I'm just good for a one night stand
On night two I'll find something new
I can't control this monster I am
