The night sky is black, and I'm awake lying on the ground,
The grass beneath my feet is hard and cold just like I've come to be Stars are gone behind the clouds, and I can't see a thing
So I'll just let my eyes stay closed just like me
I can't open up

'Cause I'm alone,
And I don't see a chance to fix this head
So just give up
Write me off, pretend I don't exist

There's something in an empty bed that makes it hard to close your eyes
It can eat at you 'til they both turn black and blue
And all you want is a reason you should live or a way for you to die
A way for you to die

'Cause I'm alone,
And I don't see a chance to fix this head
So just give up
Write me off, pretend I don't exist

The ground's opening up
I'm fallin' down below
An endless fall into a place that I don't think a child should know
And I'm screamin' out a name that could never pass my lips
It's the poison in my veins that got me through her kiss

'Cause I'm all wrong,
And I don't see a chance to fix this head
So just give up
Write me off, pretend I don't exist

The ground's opening up
I'm fallin' down below
An endless fall into a place that I don't think a child should know

I'm screamin' out a name that could never pass my lips

It's the poison in my veins that got me through her kiss

Now I'm too hung up on that to have anything with you

The poison in my veins

The poison in my veins

Poison in my veins that got me through.
