Once when I looked and saw you
Standing by the subway line
But if you found out it was a lie
I would die to know where you lie and go

Oh, what does it mean?
Baby, it didn't show up on the 8.15
And should you love another guy
I would die to know where you lie to go
To sleep tonight

Try a little luck
With a sunny smile and a witty eye
And you may find a smiling guy
And a little air between your lips and I

Oh, cry almost like a baby
So don't be surprised
If don't find you can comply
When I'm on my knees looking for recipes

So wouldn't you answer the phone
And tell me you're all alone
I saw you everyday
I'm begging you to don't go away

I don't even know your name
Couldn't call you anything
Should have call you baby
Maybe just a little grin

I don't even like it when
You're making all the noise for me
I don't even know your name
Couldn't call you anything

Hold on, you didn't tell me, baby
You'll be back at dawn
Or in the back seat out by your lawn
I would die to know where you lie and go

Oh no, having trouble

Finding out which way to go
I'm stuck in slow mo
Looking on the ground for the love I found

Answer the phone
And tell me you're all alone
I saw you everyday
I'm begging you to don't go away

I don't even know your name
Couldn't call you anything
Should have called you baby
Maybe just a little grin

I don't even like it when
You're making all the noise for me
I don't even know your name
Couldn't call you anything
