She was so perfect she was so pretty
She had everything but no friends
They hated her they wouldn't see
That she fought all her strength

Lonely she cried and cried
She just tried to hide
This couldn't be the true
She didn't know what to do

She was outside in the cold air
With others that wouldn't stop stare
She asked for something new
But she didn't know

I'll be like others she said to herself

She change everything but no friends
They hated her they wouldn't help
In her big fight all her strength

Lonely she cried and cried
She just tried to hide
This couldn't be the true
She didn't know what to do

She was outside in the cold air
With others that wouldn't stop stare
She asked for something new
But she didn't know
Outside outside
