Once upon a time
our world was on fire and I loved to watch it burn Wild and reckless never any limits Guess I had a lot to learn This fire turns to embers embers to ashes
they blow away too soon now everything after you is like having Wine after Whiskey
it went from "Do anything for you, babe"
to " you don't even miss me"
Once you've tasted a love that's strong You can't go back and you can't settle on anything less and that's what gets me
It's like having wine after whiskey
Looking back I guess it's really for the best Still you're something that I crave Even though I know it was right to let you go You're a habit hard to break I got used to being high and nothing that I try seems good enough right now It's all salt water now Like having Wine after Whiskey
Once you've tasted a love that strong
It's like having wine
after whiskey
