This is me calling you out for all these built up superstitions
They haunt me now and then for just a little light down here

Well, I would run, I would cross a thousand seas
And in our perfect world you would wait at the other side

I know that you, you'll follow up with all the answers
If you were there for me at all This is the way that I can't describe anything I've felt for a while
It's just a little too much to take
This is the way that I can't describe anything I've felt for
a while
It's just a little too much to take

Tell me what would you have to say for asking who you really are Oh God, I want to know just a little truth down here

Well, I would write, I would write a thousand songs Sing them all to you, you know you wouldn't have to say a thing

I know that you, you'll follow up with all the answers
This is the way that I can't describe anything I've felt for
a while
It's just a little too much to take
But this is the way, I can't describe anything I've felt for
a while
It's just a little too much to take

So enough with everyone else's words
It's just a sign that nothing makes sense to me
And this is your last chance

I'd cut you just to watch you bleed It's the only way to make you see that you are never there for me

You're never there for me You're never there for me, never there for me at all

I know that you, you'll follow up with all the answers
This is the way that I can't describe anything I've felt for
a while
It's just a little too much to take
But this is the way, I can't describe anything I've felt for
a while
It's just a little too much to take
