From London to Paris
From Berlin to Rome
You're searching for something
A place to call home
Been hiding your feelings
Went out of control
Your destinations unknown

Tell me how can it be boy?
You're still a runaway
You chased a dream from heaven above
Where in this world will you find a place to stay
You runaway from love
How can it be boy?
You're still a runaway
You chased a dream from heaven above
Baby, where in this world will you find a place to stay
You runaway from love
Runaway from love
Runaway

A new town a new place
A knock on the door
You came as a stranger
And ended the war
The moment I saw you
I knew it for sure
You won't pack your bags anymore

Tell me how can it be boy?
You're still a runaway
You chased a dream from heaven above
Where in this world will you find a place to stay
You runaway from love
How can it be boy?
You're still a runaway
You chased a dream from heaven above
Baby, where in this world will you find a place to stay
You runaway from love
Runaway from love
Runaway

I know you don't want to be a bother
Though your love still undiscovered
I want you to stay boy
Stop running away from love

Tell me how can it be boy?
You're still a runaway
You chased a dream from heaven above
Where in this world will you find a place to stay
You runaway from love
How can it be boy?
Runaway from love
