Hands up in the air
Caught you in your act again
Once it starts it never ends
Climb your way from bed to bed
Still searching for the next best thing
You say "who cares, I've got no ring"
You're all one and the same to me

So you swear to him again, you're in love
At least for the night....
Till you get what u desire
Then you spread your wings and you take flight

Right now, I think its time we called you out
She swears she's hot but even she's in doubt
The gloves are off, and the game's in play because Her halos gone and her wings are fake

You know who you are
If you're an angel, you must have fallen hard from grace
You call them friends, I call them marks
You're no angel, I'm gonna make that clear today

Legs up, that's the way
You seem to make your friends these days
I have to say that it's such a shame
What some girls will do to taste some fame
"Another guy, another night....
That's how i like to live my life...."
She says,
"They're all one and the same to me"

So you swear to the mirror again, you're in love
At least for the night....
Till you set his heart on fire
Then you spread your wings and you take flight

Today will be the last time you get what you wanted
This time you'll get what you deserve

Wake up call for me

How you got me here I can't believe
The lights are off, the door is closed
Our secret that no one will know
You think you caught me in your net,
But that's ok girl cause you forget
You're all one and the same to me

So you swear to me again
You're in love, and this time it's right
You'll never get what you desire
Maybe played me once, but never twice
