The morning mist against my skin
I never want this day to end
When I had noone to turn to, he was a true friend
I learned the truth, even when it was hard
Too many thoughts clutter my head

Feeling like I should be dead
That's the mystery of life
No more rain falls from the sky
3 a.m. comes, still awake and alone

I was abandoned by all of my friends
One person besides me remained
The love of my life, passionate and uplifting
Eternity remains with him
