It was premeditated
Both my legs came off they wouldn't stop kicking
I hung upon a cross it runs in the family
I acted on a whim I left the engine running
I didn't feel a thing I had an addiction
I tried to stop a fight I had a son or daughter
I was I'll allright I was in police-custody
Lightning came my way I jumped I slipped I fell

It was really nothing I coughed a little blood I tried to save my baby
I met an angry dog I was under water
I skated on thin ice I was only seven and I got knifed I angered everybody
I starved in every way they called and said they'd visit
But no one ever came we were sure it wasn't loaded
I couldn't reach the phone my heart was exhausted
I saw the sky explode

I tried to fix the TV
It was a hit and run my boyfriend beat me
I felt myself go numb the guilt became unbearable
I never say goodbye the building was on fire
I was asleep inside I carried a virus
I collapsed at work I wasn't cured from cancer
She said it wouldn't hurt we were in the forest
I laughed a lot that day I was with my loved ones
I slowly bled away

We were on a class trip Snow! we yelled and ran nothing too eccentric
I never saw the ban I was really really old
I didn't hear that train the last I felt was rain
