The Great Dinosaurs With Fifties Section
Beast in the garden I'll think of you
Covered in ribbons I'll think of you
But I'll take a part of it
Oh just a little bit
Everyone wants their control.
Fisherman passing the buck to the farm Hand jumping concerns over backbones and benchmarks
And speedbumps and telephones are on their way out.
Please don't make me buy new shoes this year please Don't make me buy new sneakers this year.

You were right, the voice of the cars on the road next to mine
Remind me of things that I burned in my skin
How a boy makes decisions and bases them all on lies

Baby got a balloon gonna take it to the top of the stairs
Said baby's got a balloon gonna take it to the top of the stairs
Who comes to parties said all dressed up like
That you a hero with real gold inside your hands
Show her what she wants
Show her what she wants
Show her what she wants
She wants it all
She wants it all
Cops are the killers and hospitals never close
Eyes are like pissing in puddles the smallest of backs
I won't turn my head
Your boat has left and now your mates are dead
You get in the car drive as far as the city goes.

40 hawks to guide my way per mile
And if she's drunk on Alcohol and smiles

Age is on you and it's no one but you.
