To know You is to never worry for my life and
To know You is to never give into compromise and
To know You is to wanna tell the world about You
'Cause I can't live without You

To know You is to hear Your voice when You are calling
To know You is to catch my brother when he's fallin'
To know You is to feel the pain of the brokenhearted
'Cause they can't live without You

More than my next breath, more than life or death
All I'm reaching for, I live my life to know You more
I leave it all behind, You're all that satisfies
To know You is to want to know You more
To know You is to want to know You more

To know You is to ache for more than ordinary
To know You is to look beyond the temporary
To know You is believing that You'll be enough
'Cause there's no life without You

More than my next breath, more than life or death
All I'm reaching for, I live my life to know You more
I leave it all behind, You're all that satisfies
To know You is to want to know You more
To know You is to want to know You more

All this life could offer me
Could not compare to You, compare to You
And I'll count it all as a loss
Compared to knowing You, knowing You

More than my next breath, more than life or death
All I'm reaching for, I live my life to know You more
I leave it all behind, You're all that satisfies
To know You is to want to know You more
To know You is to want to know You more

Compared to You, compared to You
And I'll count it all as a loss
Compared to knowing You, knowing You

And I'll count it all as a loss
Compared to knowing You, knowing You
