Hey weatherman I don't understand
I think you said clearly clear skies was the forecast today
(But where did they go?)
Well I'm lookin' west I see cloudy skies at best And to the east storm clouds are headed this way (look out here they come)
What good does it do me to worry about tomorrow When it's all in Your hands so where You lead me I'll follow
Everything is gonna be just fine You know that nothing can stop me now Rains fallin' from the sky But my day is shining bright This love has gone and turned my world upside down and it's gonna be alright You're givin' up down in the dumps

This life's so rough too tough had enough all Before you get out of bed (get out of your bed)
Lift up your head my dear friend
This tunnel does have an end and I think I see light ahead (I see light ahead)
You're wastin' your time
No need to worry about tomorrow It's all in His hands
He will lead will you follow
CHORUS
Why won't you just let it go Stop trying to make it on your own Yeah you've got something to live for This is the love that put the stars in the heavens
This is the love that makes this life worth livin'
