So lets go,
Let's tear this place to the ground,
Burn every bridge that gets in our way (way),
The night is young and so are we so lets have a little fun,
Now raise your glasses to the queen of nothing,
Before you know it, she'll take

Your life laid out right in front of,
Your eyes can see right through me,
So steal my heart,
Torn out,
By the work of your,
Hands are cold tonight.

Well the least you could do was call,
When all the alcohol passes through you,
I hope you regret those things you said,
We won't back down,
When times get tough, I'll stand my ground,
When the tables turn,
The odds are stacked against you.
Lets go.
