Tonight the moon is falling from the sky
Like superstars denied another try
Only you can seem to tell me why
Don't cry
Tonight I'd like to drink myself to sleep
Or lay beneath Kenievel's final leap
Sometimes the hole I'm in just seems so deep
Don't cry you say
Don't you go
Won't you stay
I feel cerebral meltdowns on the way
God may come
But God don't stay
Take away these walls around me
Take away my head
Cause it's crashing in on me, Oh no
I know the high precedes the awful low
I know the yes sometimes becomes a no
I know you need the blue before the gold
Don't cry you say
I could overdose on you tonight
We'll walk the streets until it's light
I could overdose on you tonight
You could be my fix for tonight
