"These Are The Nights"

This year with the backpack down and keep this spot that we have,
And we're still passin' around, and we know
These are the nights that we will take it slow
We let it go by

We're so young and we're best friends
And we've had enough to deal with just to take it all in,
and we see
These are the nights that help us make tomorrow, be tomorrow

So keep your sholders back and now that you're on track

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again

Last year shoulda made him my best
But I had to much to do and with your weight on my chest, and you knew
Which words were better to use for the right excuse
They excused

I'm through with accusing you
And only blame myself for blaming, you
It's not just what you do but how you do it
We go through it
So keep your head up high and say goodbye

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again

How many times have we tried to win this fight
But we know that this will be the night we get it right... go!

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again

This is where we end
And where I finally begin
And yes so breathe it all in
Let's bring the night alive again
