Well I was walking back home real late
Look at the stars up in the sky
Thought of the wishes I had made
Then started, thinking about all the time we had left
Was counting out my mistakes
And counting out my regrets

About you, Thought about me
Thought about all the things we'd ever be
Thought about you, Thought about me
Thought about all the things we'd never be
Thought about you

I thought about you

Well I woke up in the pouring rain
My pockets empty and a voice runnin' round in my brain
It started, soundin' a lot like the devil himself Sayin 'No-one gets to heaven if they don't go through hell.'

Would you, Think about me?
Think about all the things we'd ever be
Now tell me would you, Think about me?
Think about all the things we'd never be
So tell me would you
So tell me would you

I thought about you, I thought about me x6
(I thought I'd mean something to me,
I thought I'd mean something to you) x3

Well I was walking back home real late
Look at the stars up in the sky
Thought of the wishes I had made
Then started thinking about all the time we had left
Was counting all my mistakes and all my regrets

About you, thought about me
Thought about all the things we'd ever be
Thought about you, thought about me

Thought about all the things we'd never be
Thought about you

I thought I'd mean something to me
I thought I'd mean something to you

I thought about you.
