Running wild on the highway of life through preachers an TVs We're unleashed like hurricanes
We were born to catch the fate Speedmen ride the blazing engines through lies and deals we turn By supersonic warmachines we learned to eat and survive

Since the night of times to the end of the world
Rules mother nature
We were born to kill to survive

Kill to survive

Fucking tyrants lost the control
You said it's evil game
Roman reapers shred the faces
When you understand it's always too late Monsters burn bright fuel so fast straight through the veins of neck You're sneaking and creeping to escape
Don't fight against the law of life
