Saved again, my friend
When all around you lives were dim
You found the light before you tripped and fell a victim
So is simplicity
The key to unlocking life's big mystery
You found the peaces you yourself at one point couldn't feel

Keep listening over again
Over again
I've got something to tell you
Something to tell you
Keep listening over again
Over again
I've got something to tell you
Something to tell you

Just watch and sit in silence
While the record plays your memories
Life is simple when all you want is a world of melodies

Just watch and sit in silence
While the record plays your memories
Life is simple when all you want is a world of melodies
