

Chancellorpink "A Matter Of Loneliness"

Visit "A Matter Of Loneliness" on MotoLyrics.com this here is a morning that i regret not because it's a morning of any particular significance just because it's a morning, that's all that will slip into an afternoon and i'll still be alone by nightfall

i know, i know light will open up inside me and spring will come again the door will open, someone will step inside it
and spring will come again

i swear
i know it's only a matter of loneliness
and loneliness never wins unless you fight it alone
i swear

the mailman didn't miss me when i didn't step outside today the neighbors didn't notice when i accidentally threw 50 bucs away

i know, i know
i'll force myself up out of bed this morning make another pot of coffee and i'll watch the t.v., the telephone won't ring
and spring will come again

i swear
i know it's only a matter of loneliness
and loneliness never wins
unless you fight it alone

Visit Chancellorpink page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.