Everyone is waiting for you to come back, come home
Everyone is waiting for my bad habit to start
And no matter how hard we try
Things come and go and eventually pass by

But not me
I'm not here to judge you

Never mind the distractions of this life
Show me nothing and everything I never knew, I never knew
These complications will bring us to our knees
What makes us stronger? The fighting will bring us into, us into

So many distractions
So many excuses for us to come undone
A uniform of silence
A brick through a broken window
As people stare while they pass by

Never mind the distractions of this life
Show me nothing and everything I never knew, I never knew
These complications will bring us to our knees
What makes us stronger? The fighting will bring us into, us into

Don't take back what you gave
My heart will stay the same
If this was meant to be
We'll come around

Never mind the distractions of this life
Show me nothing and everything I never knew, I never knew
These complications will bring us to our knees
What makes us stronger? The fighting will bring us into, us into
