Well you looked so at peace
Tryin' to find real love
Your hair was like a fire
Such a pretty woman

You were hiding out in the open
Searching so hard
For a kiss that lasts forever
There on the boulevard

Do they use you and then they lose you
When you get scared again?
They could never forget you
But they could say they said your name
Julia

Well there's gotta to be somebody
Gets what it is you do
Knows about the business
Somebody who can see through

Someone unaffected
Someone unashamed
Of his woman being worshiped
When he is not in the frame

Do they use you and then they lose you
When you get scared again?
Oh, they could never forget you
But they could say they said your name
Julia

Do they use you and then lose you?
Do they use you and then lose you?

Do they use you and then they lose you
When you get scared again?
They could never forget you
But they could say they said your name

Do they use you and then they lose you

When you get scared again?
They could never forget you
But they could say they said your name
