I see you in a different light
Candle light, moon light
I see you in a different way
Through different eyes and it's so nice

We were just friends, that's how it started
You told me your secrets and I told you mine
You were always there with a shoulder
To lean on anytime

Now something's changed
Nothing's the same, no, no
You're here beside me

I see you in a different light
Candle light, moon light
I see you in a different way
Through different eyes and it's so nice

I see you like I've never seen you before
The way I wanna see you much more
Oh tonight, tonight
I see you in a different light

You were the one that I'd always turn to
The one I could talk to, baby, the one I could trust
Who would of ever dreamed
We would be here together making love?

The sweetest surprise
Has come to my life
That you're here beside me

And I see you in a different light
Candle light, moon light
I see you in a different way
Through different eyes and it's so nice

I see you like I've never seen you before
The way I wanna see you much more
Oh tonight, tonight
I see you in a different light

When did your kisses get so sweet baby?
Baby, it's such a sweet surprise to me, me
To look into your eyes

And I see you in a different light
Candle light, moon light
I see you in a different way
Through different eyes and it's so nice

I see you like I've never seen you before
The way I wanna see you much more
Oh tonight, tonight

I see you in a different light
Candle light, moon light
Different way

I see you
I see you baby
Like I've never seen you before

I see you baby
I see you baby
I see you baby
