Been here before, or have I?, cannot recall

Been here before, but I cant, see what Im looking for Theres nothing left only memories remain

And until the end, Ill search for my home

Progress haunts my dreams
And I cant stop this enemy
Forever stalking me

And to the world Id known, I bid farewell

I am homesick, while at home
And Ive got nowhere else to go
I reminisce of the last time
That I stood on this sacred ground

Misplaced myself but Im still here
Never thought that I would fear
Losing my homeland
Ive lost my sacred ground

Desperate, clutching straws
Distant, at arms throw
Cant face the new world Ive come to Rejecting what is before my eyes

Memories, lost and sold
Deface times of old
I reminisce of the past life
No compensation can compensate me for what I have lost. I have lost

Grave mound, connections are fragmented
To my own ground

This wound, created for your welfare
Now left unbound

Tear it all down

No you cant buy this ground
Hold fast, face down
This cant be undone

This world goes to, the highest bidder
We can only loose, while they desecrate

Victim of our lust
No-one we can trust
Were all longing for fortune?
But somebodys got to pay

Nomad dont belong
Aimlessly I run
Never return to my past life
A vagabond born by solastalgia
I am lost, I am lost

Have I been here, before?
And Ill be here, nevermore
