Take my heart and wring it out
In Your hands and watch it all collapse
Take Your Love and drive it in
Into my soul, and never leave again

'Cuz I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home
I am so afraid that, I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home

So don't leave me here alone
Don't leave me here alone

All Your hope and all my pride
All this time to watch it all collide
When everyone seems to say, ?You can work it out?
Under my skin I'm shaking and I can't get out

I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home
I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home

So don't leave me here
This is not what You said, it's all in my head
When I throw my anger at You instead
So don't give up on me, I want to believe
That You'll never leave me

I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home
I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Deep into the ages, deep into the foam
I am so afraid, that I'll find myself alone
Looking for a savior, looking for a home

So don't leave me here alone
