Stop wasting your time
Trying to fix their visions of you
Don't let your guard down
In the sea
Stop wasting your energy
Trying to get them to hear you
The feeble survive by leading astray
Their venom leaves you to decay
You won't forget
They only live
To see you fail
But you prevail
Stop wasting your life
Trying to stop their deceptions of you
The insecure, the weak, the timid
Will judge, will scorn, not morn
Your losses are their gain your disappointments are their pleasures
Don't carry their hurt, their hate, their fate Don't rationalize their lies, their insults, their misjudgments
Don't take their bluff their bait, just wait and see
And then know who you are and wash your hands clean
Please don't forget
They only live
To see you fail
But you prevail
