Spoken Intro: I wanted to make you a tape in the proper perspective, but it seems like my surroundings is always mired in some sort of confusion. And on the reverse side of that, it would be that I appear to be confused. So I'll leave it up to you to uh, think...

In your music mind
How long is forever
Think in your music mind
Down through all you've ever heard
Coming through your ear now
I can reminisce and remember
I can reminisce and remember
I can reminisce and remember
My feelings spent with you
All my music
How can i feel my soul again
All my music
Can you feel my music now within
Growing every day
Growing every day
Growing every day
'Cause i'm on the line
On the frontiers of electronic fears
You can see me
Here on this tape
I keep moving my mind in the sound
That would split through
The blind into beyond eyes in you
In through and back to you
Around and under and back over and through
And coming back again
On the frontier
Of making new sound
Think in new waves of dreams coming back
Just old dreams.
