Insomnia's lullaby, drinking wine and counting down the time. You know what time it is, so quickly it has crept. You see the look in his eyes it's time to undress. You've been stressed, there's no rest, till you win the battle with your mind. Insomnia's lullaby, drinking wine and counting down the time. Sleep's knocking at your door but refuses to come in. He laughs at your weeping, this is his doing. Come in, you beg him, he is now an ally to your mind. Insomnia's lullaby, drinking wine and counting down the time. Sleep hasn't been in four days but won't let you wake. Tests you beyond midnight, how much can you take? Your legs ache, there's no break. Will you surrender to your mind? Insomnia's lullaby, drinking wine and counting down the time. I can't sleep, I can't breathe, I fill these empty spaces, oh.
