

Becoming The Archetype

Nobody'll make me feel this way again
Yeah - I wanted you to be my friend
Now I'm standing here facing the train
I felt so lonely and useless
Searching for the reason of life
Waiting for someone to arrive
When you went from me
They told me time is a healer
But I always remember the pain
All my beggin' was in vain
Your breath stood still - so still
Never see your smile again
No never - no never
I thought you are my only friend
Forever and ever
Tell me what can I do
To ease the pain in my heart
From coast to coast
I'm on my journey
There are quite
A lot of things to see
Trying to forget
About me and about you
Fact is fact
And I know for sure now
Ain't nobody who can replace
Even if she's got the same face
Eyes can betray
