Could you shed some light in here
Make it bright while my eyes are still groggy
No one's ever been this close before and still asking
But you so easily smile with me

Warmth was the signature
A beauty mark to replace the least desired
Lulled by the fragrance that lingers around you

I'll set the clock back once again
I thought it was done for good this time ticking
But the air whispers sweet memories
And I so easily smile with you

Warmth was the signature
A beauty mark to replace the least desired
Lulled by the fragrance that lingers around you

Warmth was the signature
A beauty mark to replace the least desired
Lulled by the fragrance that lingers around you
