Have you ever felt like every day was the same
No more than familiar faces boring places and tired
eyes
The doors is open there is stands Today is waiting take a man
I dont know how much more of this that i can take
So lets walk away

Take this simple life away
Get on the bus and we'll drive through the night
No more worries of Deja Vous
Today was the last day of all

Finally a chance to dream
To stray from comfort into the unseen
Well, you will be amazed at the stories we have to bring home
The story of a life is told
As we die to the unknown
Its time for us to live
Its time for us to get away
So lets walk away

Take this simple life away
Get on the bus and we'll drive through the night
No more worries of Deja Vous

One last glance at these memory stained walls
Theres no more time to stare
The future is here i dont want to wonder What i could have been

No more than familiar faces boring places and tired
eyes

Take this simple life away
Get on the bus and we'll drive through the night
No more worries of Deja Vous
