I walk down the street, people passing me by
They look me up and down
But they don't look me in the eye
I'm just another stranger in my own home town
Looking for an angel but heaven can't be found

I say hey, are you lonely tonight?
Hey, hey, hey I'm gonna make it through
But that don't make it right

Chorus:

Does anybody really fall in love anymore?
Does anybody really give their heart to somebody?
Does anybody really ever open that door?
I know, I know you've got to love somebody
I know, I know I've got to find somebody to love

There's a sad face in the mirror
And I'm sad to say it's me
Like a ghost up in the attic
Only love can set him free
I've been running around in circles
On this roller coaster ride
There's a lonely world around me
I get sucked in by the tide

I say hey, love ain't no crime
So why is everybody so afraid to cross that line?

(chorus)

Baby

Hey, hey, hey I'll be all right
'Cause I know that someone somewhere's
Gonna say these words tonight

Does anybody really fall in love anymore?
Does anybody really give their heart to somebody?
Does anybody really ever open that door?

I know, I know you've got to love somebody

Does anybody really fall in love anymore?

Does anybody really give their heart to somebody?

Does anybody really ever open that door?

I know, I know I've got to find somebody to love

To love

Does anybody really ever open that door?

I know, I know I've got to find somebody

Does anybody really fall in love anymore?

Does anybody really give their heart to somebody?
