I'm wondering how, we fell through,
Got a little too much in my head, like I miss you,
Each passing light, reminds me,
Nothing could lift me from the dark, till I found you,
And everyday goes, running with the same flow,
But there's always something washed away,
I don't know how, we fell through,
Got a little too much in my head, like I miss you,
A million lights, behind you,
I'm a little too much in the dark, here without you,
No one leaning on me, nothing here to hold me,
Moving where I choose alone,
Rolling so free, there's nothing here to stop me,
Filling up my head with me and you,
I don't know how, we fell through,
Got a little too much in my head, like I miss you,
A million lights, behind you,
I'm a little too much in the dark, when I can't see you,
Don't tell him where the future floats,
But before it goes,
You and me you know we got to try,
Before the chance flies, honey this is our time,
Hope we won't be those sweet fools,
And the other girl who watched your life pass by,
Don't tell me how, we fell through,
Got a little too much in my head, like I miss you,
A million lights, behind you,
I'm a little too much in the dark, here without you,
A million lights, behind you,
I'm a little too lost in the dark, till I find you.
