There was rain on the street last night
We stood beneath the front door light
And everything we said,
We made sure the neighbors heard
You called me this, I called you that Standing on the welcome mat
Everything we felt at all came down to just one word
But you couldn't say it, and I couldn't say it
You know I tried my best to go and
I know you cried, cause I heart you so
Shoulda been easy to say that we were through
But to walk away from love was more than we could do
It was almost goodbye, Almost goodbye
There was sun through the blinds this morning
When I opened up my eyes, and outside I could hear a mocking bird
I could feel your heartbeat as you lay there by my side
I thought of how the world could end with just one word
But you didn't say it, and I didn't say it
You know I tried my best to go and
I know you cried, cause I heart you so
But to walk away from love that was more than we could do
IT was almost goodbye, Almost goodbye
Sometimes the most important words
Are the ones that we leave unspoken
You know I tried my best to go and
I know you cried, cause I heart you so
Shoulda been easy to say that we were through
But to walk away from love that way was more than we could do
It was almost goodbye, Almost goodbye
No I couldn't say it, it was almost goodbye, almost goodbye
