Walking on my way from you
The sun is gone
And all my thoughts turn blue
While I go down this road alone
Finally I'm just taking my time
To carve our past into a stone

Here is the day you found me
Here is the music by the sea
Here is our trip on a sinking ship
Here is the wine that made us free
Here is a dream no one else will see

Here is everything we wanted
Here is everything we never had
Here is every ghost we hunted
Here is everything we left unsaid
Here is the time I borrowed
Here is the peace I didn't know, didn't know

You've been stepping on broken glass
While I'm waiting for it to pass
Here is the hope that didn't last

Here is everything we wanted
Here is everything we never had
Here is every ghost we hunted

Here is my tear for losing you
Here is my care and here's my gratitude
I'm heading on to the break of dawn
Here is the song that took me so long
Here is my love and solitude
Here is my love and here's my solitude

Here is everything we wanted
Here is everything we never had
