Shed this protective shield abandon the calling this time's a second chance there's no point in stalling brace yourself for impact it's only up from here laughing at opposition things aren't what they appear awake from my slumber ready to start anew a part of the same mold we're not the chosen few laid to rest in a coffin losing this mortal coil a new seed has been planted rebirth beneath the soil emerge from this safety so brave and vulnerable standing on our ideals to prove we're capable as others fail and perish we'll set our goals in sight a collective built on trust our ambitions take flight stretch my wings to fly you can fall on me array of sounds that form colors before my eyes it makes me see my life in a more perfect light
