It started in the eastern sky
A shining disc of intense light
Shedding a trail from where it flies
Glistening in the fading night
Gliding down without a sound
Levitating above the ground
Masters of your own fate
You must act now before too late
Masters of your destiny
Develop you humanity
A blinding flash together they stand
Stepping forth with an open hand
They have a given task in mind
As friends to help and lead the way
Beings that were once our own kind

This is what they have to say
Masters of your own fate
You must act now before too late
Masters of your destiny
Develop you humanity
Returning back into their craft
Leaving us here on the earthly raft
Manoeuvring like a blowing wind
Awakens the thought of human sin
Perceiving our increasing fight
When they are gone and out of sight
Masters of your own fate
You must act now before too late
Masters of your destiny
Develop you humanity
