Your lips start to shine when you're
Kissing the surface of a liquid so vital
The flowers in the garden shaking of dust
In the rainfall
Your face smiling back at you when you're
Watching a mirror in motion
Tears are flowing unseen healing your
Wounds in the moisture
Let me be your drizzle
And wash away your pain
The rainbow will remind you
Of treasures you have found
Let me be your mizzle
And wash away your shame
The rainbow will remind
You of pleasures you have found

Your wishes come true when you
Enter the blue feeling rejuvenated
Make sure you reach the bottom
Even a calm lake is lethal
The sun strikes again with a shimmer
Of magic refreshing your being
The thunder in the distance waking
You up to a new day
Let me be your drizzle
And wash away your pain
The rainbow will remind you
Of treasures you have found
Let me be your mizzle
And wash away your shame
The rainbow will remind
You of pleasures you have found
